The federal gunboat Vera Cruz later escorted the ship in under cover of fire that started a conflagration in the oil section of Tampico. The rebels claimed that the ship was carrying supplies for the federal.

It is stated that Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter, former Congressman from the Eleventh District, will shortly announce for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. Dr. Hunter has been conferring with friends, and his announcement is expected within the next few days. He is at present a resident of Harlan county.

It has been eight years ago since Mr. Beckham and Mr. McCreary locked horns in a primary election for the United States Senate. The last primary took place at the November election, 1906, when Mr. Beckham received in the state, 82,599, and Mr. McCreary 71,482. Mr. Beckham receiving a majority over Mr. McCreary of 11,117.—Mayfield Messenger.

That was a primary in which one side did all the counting and there was a great deal of ugly talk at the time. This time there will be at least a fair count and it would not surprise us to see Stanley get more votes than both of them.

ATTACKED BY A BULL.

Bowling Green, Ky., May 1.—While passing through a pasture near this city, Fred Price, aged 20 years, was attacked by an infuriated bull, and but for the timely arrival of help would probably have been gored to death. Mr. Henry Stites of Hopkinsville, will arrive next Wednesday to attend the wedding of his cousin, Miss Ann Lennox Stites and Dr. Karraker on Thursday May 7.—Louisville Post.

People of Prominence In The Pearl City of The Penny-royal.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 3.

Chas. J. Jarrett, Vice-President of The First National Bank and Confederate Veteran.

Hopkinsville has just cause to be proud of the solid and substantial banking houses that have carried the city safely through more than one panic. The familiar face portrayed to-day, will be recognized as the oldest banker in the city in years, though he represents the youngest of the banks. Mr. Chas. F. Jarrett, Vice-President of the First National Bank, whose signature adorns many thousands of dollars in crisp new bank notes, is not only a financier and capitalist but is a soldier whose courage was tested on many a battlefield.

Charles F. Jarrett was born in Hopkinsville in August, 1840, the only child of G. W. Jarrett and Emily Gant Jarrett. His father was a native of Virginia, but when 19 years of age went to Mexico and located at what is now Santa Fe, New Mexico, where he engaged in business. Returning later to St. Louis, he finally made his home in Paducah, where Chas. F. Jarrett was reared. He was educated at Center College and left school in 1861 to enter the Confederate service. He became a member of Company D., Third Kentucky Infantry, being mustered in at Camp Boone. Lloyd Tighman was the first Colonel and after his promotion Col. Albert P. Thompson took command. The regiment was with a part of the brigade that was not at Fort Donelson, but fought with General Breckinridge at Shiloh, where it suffered severely. It emerged from the second day's fighting commanded by Lieut. C. H. Meshaw, the ranking officer present for duty, and reaching Corinth, next moved to Coffeeville and was at Vicksburg during the naval bombardment. It participated in the battle of Baton Rouge, and returning to Vicksburg fought at Chickasaw Bayou. It served in Buford's brigade, Loring's division, during Grant's campaign in May, 1863, taking part in the battle at Champion's Hill and being cut off from Pemberton's command, participated in Gen. J. E. Johnston's operations for the relief of Vicksburg. During the siege of Jackson, young Jarrett was singled out for his conspicuous gallantry and made aide-de-camp to Gen. Buford. He was next in the field under Forrest and remained with that fierce fighter during the remainder of the war. He took part in the attack on Paducah, the capture of Fort Pillow, the victory at Brice's Cross-Roads and the great capture of Federal stores at Johnsonville, and was in the thick of many famous deeds. When Gen. H. B. Lyon succeeded to the command of his brigade, young Jarrett served upon his staff and during the last four months of this service was provost marshal of Gen. Forrest's military court, moving with the army. He surrendered with Gen. Forrest at Gainesville, Ala., in May, 1865.

Returning from the war, he engaged in the tobacco business in Paducah. In 1872 he was married to Miss Susan McComb, of this county, and in 1875 bought a fine farm near the city upon which he lived for 30 years. Though making his home on his farm, he did business in Hopkinsville most of the time as a tobacco buyer. He also gave much attention to raising fine cattle and horses. He was the pioneer Short-horn cattle breeder of the county. In the old days he was President of the Christian Co. Agricultural and Mechanical Association, was President of the Tobacco Board of Trade, President of the First Commercial Club ever organized in Hopkinsville, and in 1887 was one of the organizers of the First National Bank, of which prosperous institution he has been Vice-President for the last 20 years. During these days, Mr. Jarrett was a member of that grand old club known as the "Christian County Hunting Club," that made annual hunts in distant localities, when such men as Capt. S. R. White, James S. Parrish, Austin Peay, W. F. Buckner and P. B. Pendleton, were members of what became one of the most noted hunting clubs in Kentucky.

At present Mr. Jarrett is President of the Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Hopkinsville, and is giving much of his time to the improvement of the parks left to the city by his friend and comrade, John C. Latham. He is also a member of the Jefferson Davis Home Commission.

He moved to Hopkinsville from his farm in 1905, and has a beautiful home in the eastern part of the city. He was one of the charter members of Hopkinsville Lodge No. 545, B. P. O. E., and is a member of the Westminster Presbyterian church. For many years he has been Commander of Ned Meriwether Bivouac United Confederate Veterans.

Artificial Eyelid.

A rare operation in optical surgery was performed at a hospital at Baltimore last Saturday when three large pieces of skin were taken from the arm of Miss Sarah Trego to make a new lid for her left eye. It is thought the sight of the eye, which was rapidly failing on account of exposure, will be saved by the operation. Already the grafted skin has started to take root and the patient can partially open and close the eyelid.

WHEN THE ROLL IS CALLED

Tomorrow Set Apart For Great Rally Day In Sunday Schools.

ALL OVER THE COUNTRY.

If You Have Never Been Put In One Hour Sunday Morning.

National Sunday-school and church attendance Day. Tomorrow, Sunday, May the third.

Everybody, Old and Young, great and small to be out. Don't miss the day.

The National Sunday School Committee has requested that all the people go to Sunday School and to the different church services to-morrow. The President of the United States and the governors have endorsed the movement and the State Sunday School Association and our Sunday School Association have urged the same. You are asked to respond with the largest attendance ever seen in Christian county and in the state of Ky. All people are urged to take an interest in this movement.

The importance is not overestimated and cannot be overestimated, for the time has now come when every member of the church should be in Sunday School and when this is done it will not be hard to get others in. The Sunday school is largely the life of the church, and a large Sunday school always shows to the outsider that there is life in the church. It is the place where real teaching is done and where many get a knowledge of the Bible more than from any other source. It is the foundation work of Christian life for the child. It is the place and time of development in the adult Christian life. It is the food source for the mind and soul.

The County Sunday School Association has issued a call that Christian county furnish ten thousand in Sunday school to help to make up the more than one million in the state attending on this special day. Will you come and be one of the number?

GAME WARDENS

To Have a Summer School at State Capital.

Pineville, Ky., May 1.—The State Game and Fish Commission has been in session here for two days, concluding its business early yesterday afternoon, the most important of which was the establishment of a school of instruction for the paid wardens of the State, to be held in Frankfort in the form of a convention lasting three or four days during the summer months, the instructions to cover every branch of the business—the easiest and least expensive way to care for the inhabitants of the preserve, especially the young, how to proceed when a poacher is caught, etc.

It was decided to devote the funds and labor of the commission during the coming year to inauguration of other preserves throughout the State along the same line as the one in Bell county, upon which eighteen deer have been liberated and where the members of the commission say they have found the conditions ideal.

It was announced that all the public streams of the State will be restocked with fish very shortly.

Victim of Tuberculosis.

Fannie Hancock died Wednesday night at her home on North Virginia street, after an illness of several months of consumption. She was daughter of the late A. O. Lackey and was thirty-eight years old. The interment took place in Riverside cemetery Thursday.

With Funston on the scene, why not let the fun begin?

Carranza and Villa have harmonized by doing Villa's way.

Charles Roystone, a local aviator, fell from a height of 800 feet and was killed at Los Angeles.

Dr. R. U. Mayfield, an Indiana doctor, is head surgeon in Villa's army.

Gen. Murgía, the rebel leader, who occupies Piedras Negras, says he has paroled 300 federal prisoners and given them their choice of going to their homes or enlisting in his army. There will be no executions.

The time spent in dallying with Huerta is time wasted. He is treacherous and blood-thirsty and will not keep any agreement he enters into. He agreed to salute the American flag and then started the present trouble. The only way to get reason into him is to shoot it into him.

A rainstorm broke up a gathering of violent strikers in the Colorado mine trouble zone and the federal soldiers now in charge expect to restore order without further trouble. The sending of troops followed a proclamation by the President admonishing the law-breakers to keep the peace.

Dr. Ignacio Alcocer, Huerta's Minister of the Interior, has sent further messages to all State Governors and to the jefe politicos in the territories, urging them in the name of the President to push their efforts to persuade the rebel leaders to unite in defense of national integrity. Complete amnesty is promised the rebels.

The Owensboro Inquirer publishes a story that Hamilton Alexander, who holds a position as deputy income tax collector in Collector Griffith's office and is a son-in-law of Urey Woodson, has been agreed upon by Congressman A. O. Stanley and Senator James for the appointment as postmaster at Owensboro. It is also stated that G. A. Jett, whom it was thought had Stanley's support, will be given Alexander's position.

Good Start.

Over $7,000,000 has been spent by the Government in building the locks and dams in the rivers in Kentucky.

Don't Trifle With Such Subject.

"I have just read a trivial suggestion as to how to keep the necktie in place. That is a subject that ought not to be trifled with. Somebody ought to do a series of articles on it."—Cynic in American Magazine.

"John" the Favorite.

A French journal has been digging into the soul of the young girl, and asking her what she wants in a husband as to color, age and name. The vast majority of 50,000 reply that they want a dark man of twenty-seven, and his name should be the French equivalent of John. None of your Algerians or Erics for the cautious daniel. None of your Hippolytes or Pauls—mercurial or subversive persons. They want John when it comes to husbands.

TO MAKE PERFECT GRAVY

Mixture of the Ingredients, and Proper Thickening, Are Really the Only Two Secrets.

When making gravies of either milk or water always have the liquid boiling hot before adding the thickening. Make the thickening, using about one tablespoonful of flour for one pint of gravy, by placing the flour in a cup, adding cold water, a little in a cup, and stirring with a fork until smooth and of the consistency of thick cream. Then comes the secret of smooth gravy. When ready to add the thickening to the liquid dip two or three spoonfuls of the boiling liquid into the thickening, stir together and turn slowly into the hot liquid, stirring constantly until it boils up well, when it will be done. By dipping the hot liquid into the thickening it brings the temperature somewhere near that of the liquid, consequently, when stirred in it does not retard the boiling at all. This same method holds good in regard to custards, sauces, salad dressings, or anything cooked in a like manner.

Another gravy secret: When the milk supply is low, instead of helping out with water use potato water, drained from the potatoes. You will find it a much better substitute.

When cleaning knives damp them before rubbing on the boards; this will produce a better polish and they will clean much quicker.

To impart a delicate odor to linen, saturate a piece of cotton or blotting paper with oil of lavender and place it among the various articles.

A little bag of sulphur suspended in a bird cage is not only healthy for the bird, but keeps away the parasites with which some birds are infested.

If wood worms are in old furniture rub constantly with turpentine. The polish made of turpentine and beeswax is to be preferred to any other for this cure.

When boiling a haddock fasten the head to the tail, add only sufficient water to cover, and boil slowly till cooked. Haddock is hard and indigestible if boiled fast.

Old nail holes in wood may be filled up by mixing sawdust with glue till it is the consistency of stiff paste. Press this compound into the holes, and it will become as hard as the wood itself.

When jars and jugs have been put away and smell musty, rinse them with lime water. This is particularly good for all vessels used for milk, as there is no likelihood of their not being properly cleaned.

Princess Soup.

One quart of milk, two large onions, three eggs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of salt and a half teaspoonful of pepper, two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese. Put milk on to boil; fry the butter and onions together for eight minutes, then add the dry flour and cook two minutes longer, being careful not to burn. Stir into the milk and cook ten minutes. Rub through a strainer and return to the fire. Now add the cheese. Beat the eggs with a speck of pepper and salt. Season the soup with the salt and pepper. Hold the colander over the soup and pour the eggs through and set back for three minutes where it will not boil. Then serve. The cheese may be omitted if this is not liked.

Boiled Fish With White Sauce.

Lay a plate on a large napkin and place the fish on this; tie the napkin corners together and set the whole in a deep saucepan; fill with boiling water seasoned highly with salt, pepper, vinegar and a few cloves. Boil very gently till done, then lift the fish out by the napkin corners again, untie and slip the fish from the plate to a hot platter.

Boiled fish should be served with a hot creamed sauce, chopped hard-boiled eggs and a little parsley, or with the same sauce mixed with oysters, shrimps or lobster.

Easy Way to Stretch Small Curtains.

The many small curtains of scrim or muslin which belong at transom windows, French doors, bathroom windows, etc., are often very hard to make even after they are ironed in the usual way. An easy and successful way to do up such small curtains is to iron the headings only; then while the curtain is quite damp, stretch it on the top and lower rods where it belongs. This stretching of it while wet, will draw the curtain into the right size and shape, and with out uneven edges.

When You Can Fruit.

One tablespoonful of glycerin to each pound of fruit in preserves prevents the formation of a sugary crystal coating on top. In stewing fruit fresh or evaporated, two tablespoonfuls of glycerin to each pound of fruit and a pinch of salt and less sugar is a great improvement.

To Strain Oatmeal.

Instead of rubbing the baby's oat meal through a sieve in order to strain it, I purchased an ordinary flour sifter and by simply turning the handle the oatmeal is easily passed through and the result is a light, foamy substance which is far more palatable for the baby.

Weak Cold Spells.

Wilmington, N. C.—Mrs. Cora L. Ritter, of this place, says: "I used to have headaches, and blind dizzy spells, and weak cold spells went all over me I had different doctors, but they were unable to tell me what was wrong, so I began to take Cardui I am now all right, in good health, and better than I have been for 10 years." Lippincott's For May.

There's a tang and a snap to Lippincott's fiction that not only holds the reader's attention all through, but makes him look forward impatiently to acquiring the next number. For the contents are selected with a view to giving as great a variety as possible. The issue for May is a good example. The complete novel is "Candle-Light," by Dorothea Deakin, long a favorite with magazine readers. "Candle-Light" is one of the most fetching yarns we have ever read. The story is distinctly novel, and very up-to-date, with its aviation and woman's suffrage features. The heroine is a captivating little creature, demure yet audacious. No obvious plot, this. You make up your mind that such a thing is bound to happen, then shortly after you decide that it isn't, but that something else is sure to—and you are fooled again. Of course all turns out satisfactorily, but for some time you can't help being afraid it won't.

MUST NOT BE WELL COOKED

Point Necessary for Housewife to Remember When Preparing Dishes That Contain Cheese.

It may be interesting to note that when the United States agricultural department experimented on the digestibility of cheese a few years ago it named as the most digestible cheeses, besides the so-called American cheese of the first quality, Swiss, Roquefort, Camembert and cottage cheese. Another point which the government bulletin pointed out was that care should be taken in using cheese in cooking not to burn it or even cook it thoroughly, for there are various digestive disturbances which might arise from the consumption of burned or decomposed fats. For this reason in preparing dishes "au gratin"—that is, dishes baked with a sprinkling of cheese—the cheese should not be added till the cooking process has been completed. The cheese should be added at the last moment and allowed merely to melt, but not to brown.

The Italian who makes his midday lunch on bread and cheese and a little greens dressed with oil and possibly a little light wine and sweet, ripe fruit has about as sensible and as well-proportioned a meal as he could get, though he had studied the science of dietetics all his life.

One of the best ways to make use of the food value of cheese is to use it on vegetables.

TRY THESE ORANGE SALADS

Three Guaranteed Recipes of Which This Healthful Fruit is the Foundation.

Orange Mint Salad—To serve with lamb. Remove the pulp from four large oranges. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and add one tablespoon each of finely chopped mint, sherry and lemon juice. Fill some halved orange skins with the pulp; garnish with sprigs of mint.

Orange Salad—Cut the peel from six oranges, carefully remove all pith and cut the pulpy pieces as if in natural divisions, sprinkle over these a little ever so finely chopped tarragon and chervil, a dessertspoon of olive oil, a dessertspoon of brandy and a pinch of sugar. Pile on a dish and serve very cold. (Chopped watercress may be substituted for tarragon and chervil.)

Orange Salad—Cut thin slices of oranges crosswise, lay them on lettuce leaves, sprinkle with pineapple cut in dices and the meats of shelled walnuts. Pour over three tablespoons of olive oil, mixed with one of lemon juice, and season with a speck of cayenne and some salt, and very little castor sugar.

How to Improve Pot Roast.

When the meat comes from market there is usually a quantity of seemingly superfluous fat with it. Do not cut this off for rendering purposes, but make use of it in the following manner: First, cut the fat into strips about one-half by one inch in thickness. Make incisions in the lean portions of the meat about two inches apart. Five or six of these in a seven-pound roast will be sufficient. Insert the strips of fat in these holes and trim the protruding portion even with the surface. This method followed before basting will be found to do away with that dryness which is so much in evidence in the pot roast.

Little Home Helps.

When ironing a blouse with buttons on it, it is often found difficult to iron the material around the buttons. Try this hint and save time: Take a rough towel folded several times, lay the buttons face downward on it and iron over the backs. The buttons sink into the soft towel and the material is quickly made perfectly smooth.

When scissors become dull, put a pin between the blades and rub it up and down, working the blades as in cutting. This will put a new edge on the scissors and takes but a moment's time.

New Chocolate Dainties.

Chocolate sardines are a recent addition to the list of chocolate dainties. They are dapper little fish, three or four inches long, packed in proverbial fashion into a tin box which is a good imitation, even to the gilt lettering, of the box their fishy brothers are packed in.

Another chocolate dainty is the butterfly. With wings outspread—and that is the only way he can hold his wings—he measures four or five inches across. He comes in a box shaped just to fit him, decorated or its cover with a butterfly in colors.

Boiled Dressing.

Cream four yolks, two tablespoons sugar, one ball of butter, one teaspoonful mustard, cayenne pepper and salt. Let come to a boil one-half cup of vinegar and one-half cup of water, thickened with one tablespoon flour and pour over the above mixture. When cold and ready for use mix with plain cream.

Good Bread Rolls.

On baking day have some bread rolls as well as the loaves. When the sponge has risen once knead it down and form it into small balls. Drop these into muffin pans. Let them rise until light and bake a golden brown.

Nut Filling.

Put half a cupful of milk, the same of butter, and two cups of white sugar into a double boiler; boil until it "ropes," remove and beat a little; add a cupful of chopped nut meats and spread at once.

SUN DIAL IN THE HOUSE

Generally Easy to Find Suitable Place for it During the Months of Winter.

Just because the sun dial must be unscrewed from its pedestal before snow begins to carpet the garden is no reason why it must be packed away until spring. Nearly every house has at least one window which catches the sunshine much of the day and here the sun dial will mark almost as many hours as it did during the summer.

"Grow old along with me, The best is yet to be," says one sun dial which comes in polished brass or copper or bronze and in all one tone or marked and lettered in black enameling. "Let others tell of storms and showers, I'll only mark your sunny hours," promises another dial, while a third reminds the idler sternly that "Time lingers not."

Associated with the sun dial is an old world charm. It suggests the gardens of an elder day, tradition and romance, and it is one of the most acceptable gifts which a bachelor man or girl can send to the woman who remembered to invite them to her house parties last summer.

RIVALRY BETWEEN THE SEXES

Prominent Suffragist Declares This Feeling is to Replace the Old "Chivalrous" Sentiment.

Perhaps those who have cherished a strong "anti" sentiment have not so much to fear, after all. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw declares that "in reforming the country generally the women would not seek to lord it over men." Men and women would be absolutely equal, and there would be a "pleasant rivalry" between the sexes on an equal footing.

This is most gratifying and reassuring. Many men had feared that under the desired new order of things they would be forced down and out, but merely a "pleasant rivalry" would be quite enjoyable. Life would become much like a mixed foursome at the Country club, or at the worst no more strenuous than mixed doubles at tennis, with tea and waffles on the side.

The "pleasant rivalry" is to replace the old pleasant chivalry. Dr. Shaw says that the women are seeking no quarter and that they do not ask for chivalrous treatment. They want to vote, but they do not want men to give them their seats in the street car. Fine! Let's make it a trade. Give the ladies the ballot and let them give up their seat chances in the cars.—Providence Journal.

OVERLOOKED.

"There are a number of things which go to the making of a new opera," remarked the director as he smoothed the fingers of his white kid gloves. "There's the music and the story and the cast and the leading tenor. And there's the temper of the audience."

"Why forget the greatest influence?"

"What's that?"

"The ticket speculator," And the director tore savagely at an obstinate glove button and went his way.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MISUNDERSTANDING.

"Is this a tentative performance of yours?"

"Naw—nothin' of a tent about it. Say, do you take this show for a circus?"

FEMINE PLEASURE.

One of the pleasures a woman gets out of being in the social swim is the intensity with which her neighbors who are not in it hate her.

SUPERLATIVE DEAFNESS.

Never address your conversation to a person footing up a column of figures. There is nothing so deaf as an addler.

HEARD AT THE CLUB.

"Young Hardupp says his grandfather was one of the first settlers."

"Not inherited, evidently; Hardupp never settles."—Judge.

TURN ABOUT.

Toots—It takes an artist to mix a cocktail, according to the experts.

Tanks—I dare say. I've seen a cocktail mix an artist.—Puck.

IT IS.

"A man's home ought to be the dearest place in the world to him."

"It generally is when his wife goes shopping for new furnishings."

NEW LINE OF CRIMINALITY

Fraudulent Identification Has Been Taken Up as a Means of Gaining Dishonest Living.

John Thompson of Hamilton, Ontario walked into the parlor of his home one night recently and found his family mourning around a coffin in which they supposed his body was lying. There had been a storm on the Great lakes, and when Thompson's father read of the finding of the body of John Thompson, fireman of a lost lake steamer, he went to Kettle Point and identified the body as that of his son. The coffin had just arrived, and Thompson's mother had just advanced to look at the body enclosed when her son entered. Thompson senior could not explain the identification.

But there have been many cases like his in the way of mistaken identification. Every day at the morgues in the large cities there are cases of fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers identifying bodies as those of relatives. Some know them by this mark and some by that, but they are absolutely certain. In some instances coroners have had to prevent rival identifiers coming to blows.

Fraudulent identification has got to be a regular trade. Inquiry is made at the morgue for a fictitious relative by a member of an identifying gang. The dead are closely observed. Incidents of their history and information as to what was found on them are gathered carefully. Then when another member of the gang has learned these facts he goes to the morgue and identifies the body that will yield the most profitable return.

ALL THE NEWS OF THE DAY

Chiefly as Understood by the Man Who Does Not Have Time to Read the Papers.

"I am glad to hear," said the Man Who Does Not Have Time to Read the Papers, "that this income tax will apply to interlocking directors."

"I wonder when they're going to start running trains in this new Catskill aqueduct, now that it's finished."

"I don't believe Wilson will ever succeed in having this James Lind elected emperor of Mexico even if he does speak Latin."

"I knew the telephone company would have to cut rates when the parcel-post company got to competing with it."

"It seems to me that this paying of $5 a day to automobile inventors as a millennium wage is going to lead to anarchy or even to sociology. But that ain't any worse than paying $12,000 a year to the city chambermaid, as they do right here in New York."

"Were you to the auto show at the Garden? Who won the races?"

"It wasn't at the Garden," said the Man with the Newspaper, "and they didn't have any races."

"Didn't, eh?" snorted the Man Who Doesn't. "Police stop 'em, I suppose. More of this impurity!"—New York Press.

Russia's National Debt.

For several years Russia has been increasing its national debt, and figures show that over 45 per cent. of loans emitting in the course of the last five years were subscribed in foreign countries.

The Russian government is anxious to get money from other lands and is expected to seek further safety in European markets very shortly with which to meet requirements for the present year.

Statistics show that during the past five years 5169.6 million rubles were raised by Russia, 3657.1 millions in the country, and 1059.3 abroad. The value of a ruble is about 61 cents.

Very striking is the manner in which the Russian national debt has been increased in the course of the last two years, as also the additional amount of money borrowed on foreign markets in the year 1912, which jumped from 256.0 million in 1911 to 448.3 millions last year.

Historic London Building.

The Inns of Court hotel, London, which is to become the telephone exchange for Holborn, began life as the Blue Boar tavern in Plantagenet times, taking its name from the crest of the De Veres, who owned the land thereabouts. When its neighbor and rival, the George Inn, was demolished under Queen Anne, the Blue Boar annexed the name George as its subtitle. It was at the Blue Boar that Cromwell, disguised as a trooper, stopped a nun about to set out for Dover. In his saddle he found a letter from Charles I. which determined him or the king's execution.

Emerson Was a Prophet.

Emerson lived before the days of the Prisco receivership and the bankrupting of the New Haven road, yet one may read in an 1857 entry of his newly published "Journal":

"I took much pains not to keep my money in the house, but to put it out of the reach of burglars by buying stock, and had no guess that I was putting it into the hands of the very burglars now grown wiser and standing dressed as railway directors."—Collier's Weekly.

Are You Alive?

There is no way by which you can "probe" to another that you "are alive." It is a matter of consciousness, of your own consciousness, and he who doubts your existence must keep on doubting so far as any argument that you may be able to offer him is concerned. If he will not take your word on the matter, the whole controversy is forever settled.

ADDED BRILLIANCY TO GEMS

Jewelers of Ancient Egypt Knew More of the Craft Than Do Those of Today.

The jewelers of ancient Egypt knew more than modern craftsmen about treating gems so that they would shine and sparkle, according to the Independent. Such gems as the emerald, garnet, and jacinth were livelier and more luminous in the days of the Ptolemies than they can be made today. It is known that the diamond, ruby, emerald and kunzite become phosphorescent or fluorescent under certain circumstances.

Gems exhibit the liveliest phosphorescence in vacuum tubes. Given in rarified air some diamonds give out a blue light which is not present in a denser atmosphere. In a vacuum a diamond of four or five carats gives as much light as a candle. The color of the light differs not only with the grain of the diamond, but with the facets of the same diamond. Maskelyne made a collection of diamonds which glowed in a vacuum with nearly all the colors of the spectrum. An uncut stone which was roughly cube shape, with truncated corners and edges, emitted orange yellow light from the faces of the cubes, pale yellow from the corners and lemon yellow from the flat edges.

Next to the diamond stands the ruby as highly phosphorescent in a vacuum. The ruby emits a beautiful red light, as though it were incandescent. Kunzite shines with a golden yellow or yellow tinged with rose. The emerald shines with a crimson light. The same gems become phosphorescent under the influence of radium. The ultra-violet rays also produce luminosity in gems.

It is well known that rubies from the mines of Burma are more valuable than those from neighboring Siam. Externally they look much alike, but under the ultra-violet rays the Burmese stones which are called Oriental rubies, glow like red embers, while the Siamese rubies look almost black.

That Roused Him.

Every policeman knows that when a man is found asleep, particularly if he happens to be under the influence of liquor, a severe rap on the soles of the feet will arouse him sooner than anything else. Adolphus Shafer, the veteran policeman at the Traction Terminal station, found an obstinate sleeper in the station one night long ago. The man was stretched out, his feet extending far beyond the soles of his shoes in just the right position, and Shafer applied the usual tactics. Try as he would, though, he could not make the sleeper budge, and it became apparent to the officer and others that the man was only feigning sleep. So Shafer applied another method.

"All right, boys," he said, "just let him stay there for a few minutes and I'll call the ambulance. We will send him to the hospital and let the doctors cut off his right leg."

But the policeman never finished the sentence. The "sleeper" was "awake" in a second and had started out the exit.—Indianapolis News.

Suffrage in Norway.

Miss Ellen Gleditsch, co-worker of Mme. Currie in the preparation of her book on radium and an ardent suffragist, lectured Monday afternoon before the Woman's Political Union, New York city, on conditions in Norway, where equal suffrage has been extended to the women. She did not touch on the subject of radium.

In Norway, said Miss Gleditsch, there were 90,000 more women than men. The women, she said, had long taken a prominent part in the life of the country, its government and business, and had "made good." It had been shown, she said, that equal suffrage lent itself to the good of the race and of the country.

Miss Gleditsch is well known as a scientist and is at present studying in the laboratories at Yale on a fellowship which was presented to the Scandinavian society.

Apartment Joys.

The dust and microbe which are showered into the courts of even high-class apartment houses are appalling. The other day said a woman who lives in a well-known apartment house near One Hundred and Tenth street and Broadway, New York city:

"I have been keeping a record lately, and find that these things are done regularly by my neighbors at their open windows:

"Mattresses and pillows are beaten; rugs, blankets, sheets, comforters, dusting cloths, skirts, coats, trousers, and switches of hair are shaken, and brooms are hammered against window sills.

"Clouds of dust, interspersed with hair, threads, and miscellany, are the result. But nobody seems to mind except myself, so the microbe scattering goes merrily on."

Cold Funeral Meats.

The two little girls who begged the privilege of picking up the windfall apples in the yard were very poorly dressed, save for the ribbons that bound their hair. When the little ones had gathered a copious harvest, madam thought she had earned the right to give them a bit of advice.

"Why not use your pennies for buying yourselves a nice little dress, instead of spending them all for such dainty and expensive hair ribbons?" she asked.

"Well, ma'am, you see, our hair ribbons don't cost us nothin'. Dad works in the cemetery, and he gets 'em off the wreaths and bouquets as is left on the graves."

O'Shaughnessy's Work.

(Indianapolis News)

There is surely a word of praise due to Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires in the Mexican capital. For months this representative of the United States government has been confronted by a situation that called for the utmost diplomacy. He has met one crisis after another, and has acquitted himself and his country with credit and with honor. He has been in the midst of a hostile company and in the presence of a de facto president who would have welcomed any untoward deed or utterance of O'Shaughnessy's part as an excuse for a show of belligerency.

In more recent weeks he has been surrounded daily by danger and, resting on his shoulders, has been the responsibility of the care and protection of hundreds of American citizens, residents of Mexico City. Emergencies have arisen and have been met, and in a strange maelstrom of tumult, O'Shaughnessy has remained calm, exercising good judgment, executing his orders gracefully and effectively and commanding respect in all his dealings with Huerta and his advisers.

And, until the last moment O'Shaughnessy remained at his post. Despite the threats of mob violence, he disdained to seek personal safety by withdrawing to Vera Cruz. He has upheld the dignity of his government and made, throughout, a fitting representative of the nation. Finally his passport handed to him, he is among the last to leave and we may be sure that if Americans linger after O'Shaughnessy's departure, they remain after he has exhausted all means to persuade them to withdraw.

One naturally assumes that there is Irish blood in O'Shaughnessy's veins and we recall, accordingly, the familiar eulogy of Joseph I. C. Clarke:

When Micheal, the Irish Archangel stands,
The Angel with the sword
And the battle-dead from a hundred lands
Are ranged in one big horde.
Our line, that for Gabriel's trumpet waits,
Will stretch three deep that day,
From Jehosaphat to the Golden Gates—
"Kelly and Burke and Shea."
"Well, here's thank God for the race and the sod!"
Said Kelly and Burke and Shea.
We have no desire to take undue liberty with Mr. Clarke's meter, but may we not slightly amend the last line?
"Well here's thank God for the race and the sod!"
O'Shaughnessy, Burke and Shea!

GALA WEEK BEGINS MAY 4

Metropolitan Carnival Co. Will Be Here Under Auspices of Company D.

Beginning with Monday, May 4, the Metropolitan Carnival Co. will be here for a whole week's stay. This is one of the best carnivals that has ever been on the road, and certainly the best one that has ever been to Hopkinsville. Last year a committee from Company D went before the City Council and obtained permission to have a carnival, but on account of the baseball season not being over they could not get the park at the time they wanted it, so sometime ago the same committee went before the Council and obtained permission to have a carnival sometime in May. Not willing to do things by halves, they got in touch with the best carnival on the road, and after carefully considering everything, they selected the Metropolitan Co. as the one to give the people of Hopkinsville the run for their money. The fact that the carnival is given under the auspices of Company D, alone should make it good. Everyone knows that whatever Company D attempts they always accomplish. The people of Hopkinsville have always stood back of Company D in everything they have done, and they certainly will not fail this time. The band itself is worth going miles to hear. It is led by Director Passafiume and is one of the best bands on the road.

The band will give a sacred concert Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Everybody is invited to come. The program for Sunday afternoon will be as follows:

- 1—Italian March—Pungelli.
- 2—Overture, Poet and Peasant—Suppe.
- 3—The Sunny South—Lampe.
- 4—Il Trovatore—Verdi.
- 5—Merry Widow Waltz—Lauren-deau.
- 6—Lucia di Lammermoor—Darnett.
- 7—Bohemian Girl—Balle.
- 8—Selection La Trovatore—Verdi.
- 9—My Hero—Lampe.
- 10—Spanish Serenade—Tobain.
- 11—Selection.
- 12—International Overture—Berlin.

The carnival has sixteen big pay attractions and numerous free ones. Among the pay attractions are Capt. Richards' animal show, containing 36 cages of trained animals, Tom Hassen's dancing show, showing all the latest dances, Barefield's minstrel show, Barefield's big vaudeville show and Joe Cody, the fat boy, who is only 4 years old and weighs 214 pounds. These are a few of the many. There will be a Merry-go-round, Ferris Wheel and Ocean Wave.

This is an ideal time of the year for a carnival and if the weather holds good every afternoon and night will see record breaking crowds. This is an opportunity in a thousand for the citizens of Hopkinsville and surrounding towns and county to see a real carnival.

FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN

As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Dispelled Backache, Headaches and Dizziness.

Piqua, Ohio.—"I would be very ungrateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and over my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was hardly able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me so I took it again and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."—Mrs. ORPHEA TURNER, 431 S. Wayne St., Piqua, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

BAPTISTS OF KENTUCKY

Raised $5,000 More For Missions Than Amounts Apportioned.

The books of the Home Mission and Foreign Mission Books of the Southern Baptist convention closed April 30 and final reports are being made up to submit to the convention at Nashville next week.

The Home board located at Atlanta asked Kentucky Baptists for an apportionment of $32,000 and a little more than $35,000 was raised. The Foreign board at Richmond asked for $46,000 and a little more than $48,000 was raised. This is a splendid showing, of $33,000 for missions, of $5,000 more than the books asked for.

Terrible Train of Troubles.

Lake Charles, La.—Mrs. E. Fournier, 516 Kirby street, says: "The month before I took Cardui, I could hardly walk. I had backache, headache, pain in my legs, chills, fainting spells, sick stomach, dragging feelings, and no patience, or courage. Since taking Cardui, I have no more pains, can walk as far as I want to, and feel good all the time." Take Cardui and be benefited by the peculiar herb ingredients which have been found so efficient for womanly ills. Cardui will relieve that backache, headache, and all the misery from which you suffer, just as it has done for others. Try Cardui.

POWER OF BRAIN A MYSTERY

Scientists Now Assert That Size and Shape Have Nothing Whatever to Do With It.

Dr. E. Linden Mellus of Johns Hopkins university has announced to all the world that your brain is good because it is, that's all. At least that is the substance of his message to the American Physiological society. Neither size nor convolutions have anything to do with brain force. Whether your brain is the size of a crabapple, and as smooth, or the size of a cauliflower, and as convoluted, makes no difference in the mental punch. That's all due to some mysterious force, undiscovered and unanalyzed.

It is somewhat trying to have all the established notions kicked over in this summary fashion, but maybe we can get used to this doctrine in the new year. Anyhow, there is some comfort in knowing that the rule-of-thumb method by which the world has been judging brain power for these many years—that of the quality of the product—does not conflict with the newest theory about the subject. So that while the textbooks may have to be rewritten, the practice can go on as it is, and the size of the pay check still be the outward and visible sign and gauge of the brain punch.

MANY USES FOR GLYCERINE

Almost Invaluable to the Housewife for General Purposes to Which It May Be Put.

Pure glycerine will cleanse a cut and cause it to heal quickly.

In washing clothes put three tablespoonfuls of glycerine in an ordinary tub of water where softness is imperative. Try two tablespoonfuls in the wash boiler when it is necessary to boil clothes.

Glycerine softens scrub water, is good for the hands, whitens wood.

A little glycerine rubbed with a flannel on shoes that are hard from wetting softens the leather, which will absorb it over night.

One tablespoonful of glycerine to each pound of fruit in preserves prevents the formation of a sugary crystalline coating on top. In stewing fruit fresh or evaporated, two tablespoonfuls of glycerine to each pound of fruit and a pinch of salt and less sugar is a great improvement.

CHANGEFUL CONDITIONS.

"What's the matter with our friend Tomalico Calorifico?" asked one citizen of a small republic. "He seems terribly restless."

"Politics don't move fast enough to suit him. He hasn't been dictator for three or four years and he's tired of waiting in line for another turn."

BEYOND THE STYX.

Plato—Let me see: They condemned you to die, but permitted you to choose the manner of your death. Am I right?

Socrates—That's right. I told them hemlock juice was my poison. I said ice cream first, but they made me guess again.—Puck.

WORTH TRYING.

"The grape fruit is spoiled."
"Are you sure?"
"There can be no doubt of it."
"Then bring it on and I will try it. That may be just what is needed to make a grape fruit fit to eat."

NO VIOLENCE.

"I heard you execrated your false friend."
"I didn't. I gave him some hot talk, but I never teched him."

VERY MUCH IN LOVE.

She—I must leave you here. I'm going to have a tooth extracted.
He—Oh, I think I'll have one taken out too.

NO MARKET.

Editor—You must remember that poetry is a gift.
The Poet—It is; you can't sell it nowadays.

TOO MIXED.

"Now make your hero in the play a strong, red-blooded man."
"How can I do that when he has got to be of genuine blue blood?"

SUSPICION.

"Do you think all the 'line busy' telephone answers are genuine?"
"Well, I must say I think some of them are money."

BEAUTIFUL NEW LONDON ZOO

Quarters for Animals in Which They Will Be Enabled to Enjoy Some Freedom.

Every animal from the gnu to the hippopotamus will be made to feel comfortably "at home" in London's new zoo, the Boston Evening Transcript states. Even the visitors will be given thrills and pleasures. For instance, they will find themselves separated from the bears by no bars at all, but only by a deep ditch, so that it will appear possible for the beasts to leap upon the visitors if they so desire. The new zoo will be called "the Mappin Terraces," having been given to the city by the late J. Newton Mappin. The rock-loving sheep and goats will have mountains on which they can enjoy exercise, warm shelters from the wind and flat ground in front, where they may come to be fed by the visitors. The bears, most of which have been confined in dismal prisons, will have spacious and various exercising grounds, baths and caves. As the sun moves around they will have shade under one or other of the radiating partitions, and in the hottest weather, they will be able to retire into the ditch.

Visitors will be able to see the general panoramic effect of the terraces from the pavilion, the lowest terraces and the side terrace, the gaudy water fowl and deer below, the bears apparently free in the valleys of a mountain, and the sheep and goats on the distant peaks. It is estimated that nearly 5,000 persons will be able to see something of the animals simultaneously, an incalculable boon in the small garden on crowded days.

SOCIALLY SPEAKING

Jack—Are the Swifts what you would call in the swim?

Jessie—Not exactly. They are just on the edge. They are what you might call "waders," but not "swimmers."

LANDLORD IN GLOOM.

Wife—Who was that who called? Husband—One of my tenants came to pay his rent.

"Did he pay it?"
"Yes."
"Then why do you look so gloomy?"

"He didn't say a word about wanting repairs."

"What of it?"
"That shows that he's going to leave."—New York Weekly.

ITS TRANSFORMATION.

"They knocked down the form which held your article on electricity."

"Well, they simply turned it into current 'pi.'"

A SPUG.

"I understand that your wealthy uncle has entirely given up hope?"
"Don't you believe it; that man has never given up anything."

GOING TOGETHER.

"What have you got hidden in your hand, boy?"
"A knife, sir."

"A knife. Then fork it over."

NOT PATRIARCHS.

"So you are getting into exclusive circles?"
"Yes, we had an invitation this week to the Parasites' ball."

ONE IMPROVEMENT.

"The world is growing worse every day."
"Say not so. They've dropped the fad for simplified spelling."

NATURAL CONCLUSION.

"Smith told me he was a self-made man."
"I suppose that is why he succeeded in an automatic company."

Ingenious Calculating Machine.
A Hungarian citizen has invented an instrument which shows instantly the amount of interest due on any given sum for any period at any given rate of interest. The instrument, made in the size and shape of a watch, is of very simple construction and inexpensive. All that is necessary to operate it is to place the hands in the proper position on the dial and the exact amount of interest in each case is indicated on the dial.

Emotions Expressed in Dancing.
In the Vedas of the Hindus, some of which date back 6,000 years before Christ, there is steady reference to dancing as an expression of triumph, worship, and even the deepest grief. It is the same in the Zendavestas of the Persians. Dancing with cymbals and tambourines, with bells tied to their ankles and wrists or around their waists, was an art that the priestesses in the temples must understand.

ALFALFA TO IMPROVE SOILS

In Actual Practice Crop Can Only Be Considered on Land Which Is High in Fertility.

The unqualified recommendation as a soil improver that is continually being given alfalfa is responsible for the very common belief that this crop is one which should be grown extensively on poor or unproductive soils, says Rural Farmer. No greater mistake could be made than to sow alfalfa, especially in the Eastern states, and which is not in a high condition of fertility.

It is true that, being a legume, it benefits the soil through the addition of nitrogen fixed by organisms forming nodules on its roots, and through its roots it not only supplies considerable quantities of humus, but greatly improves the mechanical condition of the soil.

In producing profitable yields of hay, alfalfa utilizes large quantities of phosphorus and potassium, which must be obtained either directly from the soil or from added fertilizer.

Whether alfalfa is a soil improver is a question which cannot be answered without some explanation. In the sense in which the term is commonly used, alfalfa is not a soil-improving crop, since it cannot be utilized in the same manner as cow peas, soy beans, crimson clover or hairy vetch for the building up of worn-out or depleted lands.
On the other hand it enriches the good soils through the nitrogen and humus added to the soil by its roots and crowns when the old field of alfalfa is broken up and also by the mechanical action of its roots upon the soil. Furthermore, the preparation of the land prior to seeding the alfalfa and the treatment in the way of top dressing and fertilizing which follow during the few years of its existence doubtless have a very beneficial effect on the crops succeeding it.

In actual practice, then, alfalfa improves good land, but cannot be considered in connection with poor land.

RESULTS FROM SANDY SOILS

Organic Matter Does Not Crust Over and Become Hard and Brings Earliest Market Crops.

The organic matter in sandy soils is held in a more accessible form for plant food than any other soil. It does not crust over and become hard.
It is warm and easy to work, will not adhere to the farm machinery and get stuck when being worked, more of the land can be worked with the same amount of labor, and it will bring the earliest market crops of any kind of soil and the work may be done at Working Sandy Soils.

times when it would be difficult to work other land on account of being wet and muddy.

When we apply manure to the clover we are getting the lever under the very center of gravity of the farm.
If we lift the clover crop the whole farm comes up with it and produces larger and more profitable crops.

PLOW LAND DURING WINTER

Soil Is Put in Better Condition Than
When Work Is Done in Spring—
Also Kills Insects.

There is a diversity of opinion as to the advisability of plowing in winter.

It is generally conceded, however, that sod lands should be plowed in the winter season. The freezing and thawing of the soil puts it in much better condition than it can be put by the plow and harrow after the spring has opened.

Winter plowing also destroys many insects that would damage crops if they were allowed to live.

There will be much more moisture fold up in the soil and saved for the use of the growing crop the next year if the plowing is done during the winter season than there would be if it were left until spring.

The capillary connection with the subsoil will have time to be renewed if the plowing is done early.

Value of Cleanliness.

In the prevention of disease in a dairy herd too much stress cannot be put upon the importance of cleanliness of the cows.

Brains Count Most.

It is not the man who works the longest hours in the field who has the biggest brains. Brains count more than mere muscle.

SPRING CARE OF LIVE STOCK

Great Mistake Made by Many in Feeding Out All of the Succulent Feeds During Winter.

Every year we see the necessity of having an abundance of ensilage and roots to carry the live stock well through the spring months. It is a great mistake to feed out all of the succulent feeds during the fall and early winter and compel the farm animals to consume the dry, inferior fod-ders during the spring when they are falling away in condition. Neither is it good policy to turn the animals out to pasture too early in the spring.

It belongs to the penny-wise-and-pound-foolish policy that too many of us are practicing. It is much better to spend a few dollars for grain, and house feed our animals longer than to expose them to the cold blasts of late winter and early spring. Sound policy dictates this and humanity also.

Lice seem to be more troublesome during the spring when the farm animals are kept inside until warm weather comes than at any other time during the year, and as soon as an animal is discovered to be lousy, the lice should be destroyed at once.

We have found a strong decoction of tobacco an excellent wash for the purpose of destroying lice, but during recent years we have been using a mixture of crude oil and crude carbolic acid, and find that this does the work in a very thorough and effective manner.

On the cattle we supply it with a hand sprayer, but for the hogs we prefer to use a brush or to saturate a few gunny sacks or old blankets and wind them around a post in the hog yards and allow the hogs to make their tol-lets by rubbing against these posts.

They will soon learn how to apply

TO SPREAD MANURE ON LAND

Fertilizer Should Be Spread on Soil
When Grass Is Growing as Loss of Nitrogen Is Less.

A most excellent way to use fine manure is to disk it in land where clover or grass is to be sown in the late summer or fall. It is spread on the land after it is harrowed down fairly well and then disked in just before making the final preparation and sowing the seed. This method, according to Southern Agriculture, is not often practicable, however. Unless the bad practice is followed of holding it through the summer but little manure is on hand in the fall and the rush of work at that time often makes it impossible to haul it out then.

Through the summer and at other seasons it may be desirable to spread manure on meadow or pasture land and allow it to lie for a year, or for years, before plowing. This is more wasteful than where the land can be plowed reasonably soon, but convenience or the need of a pasture or of a meadow that should stand another year or two may, and often does, justify the practice. It should be applied at a time when the grass is growing, or near such time, as the loss of nitrogen will be less then.
Sometimes disking and harrowing the land at the time will be a good practice. This will help work the manure into the soil, will cultivate the land and will make a seed bed if resowing is intended.

HOW TO MAKE RABBIT TRAP

Complete Directions With Illustration Given Herewith—Use a Carrot or Apple for Bait.

A is the trap complete, showing the inner workings of the wire door and trigger.

B is the top before it is nailed on and is shown turned over—upside down. The wire door is turned up against the top and the trigger pushed forward to catch the door. The door and trigger should be fitted to the top before it is nailed on.

C shows the door, which, loosed from the trigger, falls behind the rabbit as he enters the trap, and is hung tightly at the top, and rests against the cleats at the bottom, so cannot be pushed outward. Bait with carrot or apple.

Hang the bait on the back end of the box. The door is made of wire hent up and down and fastened with staples. Have enough space between the trigger and the bait for the rabbit to have to push it to get to the bait, then the door falls and the bit is caught.

Buying Trees.

Always get a written guaranty with your trees and be sure that the people behind it are able to make the guaranty good.

Uncompromising Foes.

Poor cows and indifferent dairymen are the most uncompromising foes of the dairy business.

THREE THINGS YOU NEED..

First—

"Kentuckian"

A virile, newsworthy paper with the interest of the entire community at heart. Issues of the day are handled without fear or favor. You will find in this paper an up-to-date department for each member of the family. Clean, honest, straightforward—it is a paper your family should not be without.

Second—

Technical World Magazine

is the one magazine that not only entertains in a fascinating manner, but which also instructs.
It is the magazine for the busy business man, or for the person who wants to pull away a summer's afternoon, and be agreeably informed at the same time. It is profusely illustrated, and tells in a simple and interesting way of the discoveries of scientists, the achievements of inventors, the feats of engineers and explorers, and the opening of every new field of human endeavor. What Jack London says: "I have just changed upon my first copy of TECHNICAL WORLD MAGAZINE. There isn't anything like it. I want more, and I cannot wait for them to come, so I am sending you herewith check for which please enter my subscription and send me immediately the last two years' back numbers."

Third—

A Fine Atlas

This one is just off the presses. This is the year to obtain a new atlas. The 1910 Census has just been completed, this atlas contains the official figures, 128 pages of 3 color maps brought right down to date—every map giving the results of the most recent surveys. All railroads are shown and named and maps of all large cities are included. There are 21 double-page maps showing in detail portions of the U. S. and Canada. Dimensions 10" x 13".
Bound in stiff linen—Silver-Leaf Title—printed on heavy plate paper. Sells regularly for $3.00. A splendid gift.

World Magazine and the publishers of Exchange Merchandise For Money!

Leads directly to exchanging ideas. As far back as histories go, much commerce seems to have been going on. The most ancient Hindu books give vivid pictures of flourishing commercial cities. "They were filled," we are told; "with merchants of all kinds. Hundreds of merchants, seated upon the floor, were seen making bargains without uttering a word." The nearest comparison to a city that Hopkinsville has in store-keeping--with goods representing ideas gathered from every country--is right here--within these seven big stores under one roof--where hundreds flock every day to buy and visit in quietness and comfort. There is a great difference between the old way of shopping and the Anderson way of 1914 in this big store with its small array of courteous, thoroughly competent and painstaking salesfolk who you will find waiting to serve you in this Spring Cleaning Sale. Begins Friday, May 1st.

Moth Proof Chests

PACK AWAY YOUR FINE FURS IN MOTH PROOF CHEST.

The only absolutely moth proof chest on the market. The usual form of moth bags dries out, and loses its virtue after a few months service, due largely to the fact that the walls are scented. This chest is built in such a way that the moth proof scent remains with it as long as the chest lasts. Chest delivered anywhere in U. S. in ten days. Chest on display $1.50.
